What distinguishes Financial Consulting from Financial Planning?

Financial consulting & planning aim to ultimately achieve the same goal: to help you receive clarity around your finances and a clear path forward on how to reach your financial goals.

- Financial Consulting is meant for those who have an ever-evolving situation or prefer to tackle projects in smaller bite-size pieces over the course of a year.
- Financial Planning is a more formal approach that entails four to five sessions to establish financial objectives, determine actionable steps, and lay out a comprehensive plan to accomplish them.

Below are additional distinctions between the two programs:

Financial Consulting	Financial Planning
Monthly Touchpoints Bi-Monthly Meetings (For Complex Level more meetings may be necessary)	Typically 3 month process with average of 4 meetings
Deliverables throughout the year	Action items and deliverables provided in final meeting
Renewable at year end	Implementation Review meeting (6 months after plan delivery)
